When You Want To Satisfy Your Crew

On emergency events, Tired People Make Mistakes. It takes more than calories to fuel a hardworking crew; the folks at Coyote Camp know that. In addition to burning calories, firefighters, search and rescue specialists, dive rescue personnel, disaster response teams and emergency service crews also burn carbohydrates, proteins, fats, sugars, fiber, vitamins and minerals. Of course, there is also the huge amount of sweat we all generate during strenuous work. Replenishing our bodies during and after these operations is vital to maintaining a strong crew. Whether you're a firefighter, a SAR Specialist, a diver or an IC, we must all think beyond just donuts and coffee to sustain ourselves and our crews. We must think balance and nutrition. As many people now recognize, it takes more than empty calories to fuel sustained emergency operations -- safely.

Since 1997 Coyote Camp has been here to help you complete your operations. Our mission statement is very straightforward: To provide nutritionally balanced, field appropriate, enjoyable, ready-to-eat meals and rehab product to wildland firefighters, structural firefighters, search and rescue personnel, dive rescue personnel, disaster response personnel, and all other emergency service providers in the public and private sectors whose mission is the protection of lives and property.

For The Long Haul

Coyote Camp MRE's provide higher caloric and nutritive food values for Emergency Services where quality field rations are a must. Whether you're working a heavy load, or running an extended operation, it makes sense to look for a balanced meal, to optimize your mental and physical capabilities.
